Dear Parishioners,

This Sunday, 50 days after the Resurrection, the Church's longest liturgical season is brought to a spectacular conclusion. We celebrate the arrival of the Holy Spirit, and the great birthday of the Church, Pentecost. It may be one of the most neglected of the church's feast days. We don't hang lights, as we do at Christmas, and we don't wear fancy hats or eat lots of candy, as we do at Easter. There are no big Pentecost sales at Macy's. But maybe there should be.

I don't think we give this feast the credit or attention it deserves.

Part of that may be because the one who dwells at the center of this great feast, the Holy Spirit, is surprisingly low key. Despite arriving with a roaring of wind and tongues of fire, the Spirit is very much someone who likes to stay in the background. He works behind the scenes.

To many of us, the Holy Spirit seems to be the quietest member of the Blessed Trinity. After all, in sacred scripture, the Father speaks often, and so does Jesus. But you'd be hard-pressed to find famous quotes from the Holy Spirit. It sometimes seems as if the Spirit is the Trinity's silent partner. But I'd like to suggest that, in fact, the Spirit does speak. Eloquently. Passionately. Fearlessly. And He continues to be heard, even today.

The Holy Spirit has spent centuries expressing the inexpressible – from the mouths of saints and the pens of popes and prophets, gently but insistently making sure that the world continues to hear, in every language, in every medium, across every barrier, the good news about the “the mighty acts of God.”

This member of the Blessed Trinity stands with us and beside us, pleading our cause, acting on our behalf. He helps to lead us where God wants us to go, to help fulfill His holy will.

Fulton J. Sheen once said about the church that even though we are God's chosen people, we often behave more like God's frozen people. God's frozen people indeed: frozen in our prayer life, frozen in the way we relate with one another, frozen in the way we celebrate our faith. We don't seem to be happy to be in God's house; we are always in a hurry to get it over and done with as soon as possible. Today is a great day to ask the Holy Spirit to rekindle in us the spirit of new life and enthusiasm, the fire of God's love.

You may not see tongues of fire fall. But pray for the light – and for the heat. Welcome the Spirit's warmth and friendship. Turn to Him. Call upon Him. Ask Him for guidance and direction. He will always answer.

Birthdays, of course, are a time we look forward to receiving gifts. So, too, with today, the birthday of the Church, when we recall the gifts of the Holy Spirit – wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, knowledge, piety, fear of the Lord. Those really are gifts that keep on giving.

You may not see any “Happy Pentecost” cards in the Hallmark store. And you won't find Pentecost decorations that are half off at CVS. But this great feast, this great holy day, stands as a towering and enduring moment, the day when our Church was born. Celebrate this day of days. Give thanks for it.

And give thanks, as well, for the one who seems to be the silent partner in the Blessed Trinity – the quiet Spirit who, despite what we may think, is often the one who speaks the loudest.

God Bless Us All,

Fr. John

Heavenly Father, we could never thank the men & women of our military, police, fire and 1st responders enough for their courageous service and sacrifice to our country and its people. Show us ways in our communities, churches, and families to thank and love them better. Keep and protect these heroes and their families, in the powerful name of Jesus we pray. Amen.
